

REPUBLICANS OF ARIZONA LINING UP FOR CONTEST

Members of Party in Gila And Navajo Counties Formulate Platform of Principles and Endorse Candidates

County by county, as their official meetings are being held, the Republicans of Arizona are lining up solidly for the fight this fall and announcing their full accord with both the national party and the state administration.

The following is the platform adopted by the Gila county Republican convention at Globe on Aug. 6:

"The Gila county Republicans, in convention assembled hereby ratify the platform and principles enunciated by the Republican national convention held in Chicago, June 8, 1920.

"We approve and endorse the nomination of W. G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge as the Republican nominees for president and vice president and pledge ourselves to use every rightful means to elect them, feeling that only by their election can normal conditions be restored to our country.

"We unqualifiedly endorse the administration of Gov. Thomas E. Campbell, and submit that by his ability, square dealing and far sighted policies he has brought prestige and honor to the governor's office and to the state of Arizona, and has awakened and prompted an era of development for the 'Great Southwest' and that his reelection is essential to the progress and prosperity of the state of Arizona.

"We believe that government by parties is an American institution. We submit that the American primary law is destructive of parties and that it should be corrected or abolished. The general practice of Republicans and Socialists registering as Democrats in order to vote at the Democratic primaries is fundamentally wrong. That as a result of this primary law the Republican party is half Socialistic. That these conditions are inconsistent with good government and should be corrected by removing the cause.

"We believe ex-service men of the United States army should be repaid in kind and to that end we favor congressional enactment opening the Indian reservations and the state lands of Arizona for homesteads by ex-service men.

"We favor the early construction of the San Carlos dam and recommend congressional aid therefor.

"The welfare of Gila county demands the election of substantial, constructive and progressive citizens of proven ability and we believe that the nominees of this convention possess these qualifications and so believing we respectfully solicit the approval of the voters of Gila county."

At a meeting of the Republicans of Navajo county on Aug. 9 the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"We, the Republicans of Navajo county, state of Arizona, in meeting assembled this 9th day of August, 1920, approve the nomination of Warren G. Harding as the Republican candidate for president of the United States, and Calvin Coolidge as candidate for vice president, and pledge them our support at the coming election.

"We view with satisfaction and admiration the administration of the Hon. Thomas E. Campbell as chief executive of this state, and place ourselves on record as endorsing same.

We approve his constructive policies and are impressed with the marked improvement in the conduct of the affairs of this state which are exemplified in the efficient administration of the state highway department and the institutions of this state which are in striking contrast to the extravagance and incompetence of the last Democratic administration. We are also particularly gratified to note the absence of class friction in our state at the present time when that condition exists so extensively elsewhere."

ADJUTANT GENERAL REMEMBERS HEROIC ACT BEFORE MANILA

General orders from the war department, received at the office of the adjutant general yesterday announced the awarding of the D. S. C. to various persons in the military service of the country, recently and remotely, and among the persons so honored was General Peyton C. March, chief of the general staff of the army, whose name is appended to all general orders. The award is made to General March for "extraordinary heroism in the action before Manila," which by the way, was 23 years ago yesterday, August 13, 1898. The act of General March, then Lieutenant March of the Fifth Artillery, was taking command of the battery, presented to the government by the late Colonel John Jacob Astor and charging the breastworks of the enemy. This was a volunteer enterprise being invited by Brigadier General Overshine.

Colonel Ingalls remembers that day well, for he was there and hungry. On his way to the front he ate up his share of the emergency rations, expecting to share those of a comrade. But that provident comrade, weary of the load, threw them away. The fight did not last long, only about four hours, but for hours the reafter Ingalls patrolled a cemetery in the vicinity. He remembers the day also because the "13" figures conspicuously, almost monotonously, in his military career. He enlisted in the service on June 13, 1898. Thirteen days later to a day, he sailed for the Philippines. He arrived there on July 31, (13 reversed), just 13 days before the battle of Manila. He was put on special service on the 13th of a month. He boarded a transport on his return on the 13th of July, 1899, but did not sail until July 31, (again 13 reversed), having been in service 13 months from the time of his enlistment. Thirteen years after his return he received the congressional medal for his service.

On May 13, 1915 he went with the Arizona National Guard to the Mexican border. He was commissioned second lieutenant on June 13, 1917, and first lieutenant on October 13, 1917. He received his commission as adjutant general on June 13, 1919.
